DOE VS. DEASY LAWSUIT: JUDGE PRESERVES MEMBERS' COLLECTIVE BARGAINING RIGHTS

AALA thanks Attorney Jonathan J. Mott of Parker & Covert LLP for providing this article.

On June 12, 2012, a hearing was held in Los Angeles Superior Court on the Doe v. Deasy case concerning certificated evaluation, which has been pending since November 2011. To recap, unnamed students and parents sued LAUSD, Dr. Deasy and the Board members to have the court set aside the portions of the collective bargaining agreements regarding evaluation and impose new requirements for Stull Act evaluations without bargaining. AALA was granted the right to appear in the case as an interested party.

Judge James Chalfant ruled that the District's current certificated evaluations do not comply with Stull in the area of including pupil progress toward state and District standards as a factor in the evaluations. Judge Chalfant refused to set aside the collective bargaining agreements or order any specific methods to comply with Stull requirements for the evaluation process as demanded by the petitioners. He stated that implementation of changes is a matter within the District's discretion and is therefore subject to bargaining. The Judge also rejected efforts by LAUSD's lawyer to make the implementation of evaluation changes, utilizing academic growth over time (AGT) or other methods, a nonnegotiable item. AALA has offered for several months to bargain on the evaluation process, with no response from LAUSD. Now that the judge has ruled, we will continue our efforts to bargain over any changes to the evaluation process. The next hearing in court is set for July 24 to finalize the Judge's order and set a date for LAUSD to explain what it will do to comply.

HEALTH BENEFITS FOR DACE EMPLOYEES

AALA wishes to thank Vivian Ekchian, Chief Human Resources Officer, for her prompt response to this critical issue.

The District is working to create a streamlined Adult Education program. In the meantime, Adult Education employees laid off effective June 30, 2012, will be immediately processed as substitute employees and assigned such status as of July 1, 2012 (unless an opt out is requested by the employee). Adult Education employees currently enrolled in health benefits will suffer no break in their health benefits through the end of August 2012. Thereafter, eligibility for these benefits will be determined in accordance with collective bargaining provisions. This window of continued benefits coverage should allow the time requested for employees to make final decisions in regards to their retirement or plans for continued employment.

PARCEL TAX REMOVED FROM BALLOT

On Tuesday, June 12, 2012, the Board of Education voted unanimously and without comment to remove the parcel tax from the November 2012 ballot. We understand that the reason was to avoid conflicting with the Governor's tax initiative.

CALSTRS RETIREES

Many AALA retirees recently received letters from CalSTRS regarding their benefit allowances and called AALA expressing their concern. We have received the following statement from V. Luis Buendia, Deputy Controller, on behalf of Megan Reilly, Chief Financial Officer:

The Los Angeles Unified School District has been working closely with CalSTRS staff to reconcile employee creditable earnings and service credit reporting issues. Retiree accounts have now been fully adjusted. On June 8, 2012, CalSTRS sent out letters to affected AALA and UTLA District members who retired between January 2007 and the end of December 2011. This letter provides retirees with information regarding changes to their specific benefit allowances. Retirees may call CalSTRS directly at 800.228.5453 to learn more about benefit allowance account adjustments. If retirees have questions about contributions and earnings reported to CalSTRS, please call the LAUSD Employee Service Center at 213.241.6670.

COMMENCEMENT ACTIVITIES

Legal Brief

As we near the close of the school year, schools will celebrate with culmination and graduation activities. Please refer to Reference Guide No. 1303, Commencement Guidelines, for policies and procedures regarding commencement activities. The following are some key points to keep in mind:

- Be sure to notify any families of students who have not met the requirements to participate in the culmination or graduation ceremony and/or related activities. Criteria and notice requirements are outlined in Reference Guide No. 1303.
- If you have a student who wishes to appeal a grade, please follow Bulletin No. 1926.1, Request to Change a Pupil's Grade. Appeal forms and response forms are included in the bulletin.
- Grad Nite activities are not sponsored by the District. These activities are typically sponsored by the PTA, PTO, booster club or other approved parent group or organization. Information distributed about Grad Nite should be clearly issued from the sponsoring organization, not the school. School administrators should ensure that families understand this is not a school-sponsored activity by officially notifying parents. The "unauthorized field trip" template letters in Reference Guide No. 2110.0, Field Trip Handbook, can be used for this notification. The template letters are found in Attachments A through C.
- Travel companies often contact students regarding class trips. These trips, which typically take place during the summer, are not school-sponsored or District-sponsored even if a District employee participates as a private citizen. Similar to Grad Nite activities, school administrators should ensure that families understand this is not school-sponsored. Again, the unauthorized field trip template letter in the Field Trip Handbook may be used to notify families.

This LAUSD Legal Brief is for information only and does not constitute legal advice. Please contact the Office of the General Counsel to determine how this information may apply to your school's specific facts and circumstances.

HEALTH BENEFITS FAQ

Topic: HIPAA and Your Health Information Privacy

How are my medical records protected in my District-provided health plans?

The HIPAA Privacy Rule provides federal protections for personal health information held by health plans, health care providers and others. HIPAA is the acronym for the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act that was passed by Congress in 1996. This act requires the protection and confidential handling of protected health information. It also mandates industry-wide standards for health care information used in electronic billing and other processes.

What information is protected?

Protected information includes what your doctors, nurses, and other health care providers put in your medical record, including conversations your doctor has about your care or treatment with nurses and others. Protected information also includes records about you kept in your health insurer's computer system, including billing information by providers. HIPAA also provides health plan members the ability to transfer and continue health insurance coverage in case of job loss (COBRA coverage), change of marital status, dependent status change and others.

Who must follow these laws?

Everyone with access to information about you and your health plans must follow these laws. For District plans, this includes the District, your health plan providers, District insurance consultants and organizations, like the Health Benefits Committee (HBC). The HBC members often receive protected information and must follow HIPAA rules.

How is this information protected?

Safeguards are required, such as who can view and access your health information, limits on uses and disclosure and training for employees on how to protect your health information. Health insurers utilize secure e-mail, with encryption, to exchange information. Commercial e-mail providers like Yahoo, Hotmail and even LAUSDnet are not "secure."

When I call, e-mail or fax AALA about a problem with my medical treatment or medical coverage, is this information covered under HIPAA?

Yes, AALA protects information we receive from you. AALA will never disclose your private information (name, address, employee number) and medical information in any unprotected e-mail communications. AALA employees are aware of and follow HIPAA rules.

Are there circumstances where the Privacy Rule isn't required?

HIPAA does not prevent your supervisor, human resources worker or others from asking you for a doctor's note or other information about your health if your employer needs the information to administer sick leave, workers' compensation, wellness programs or health insurance.

For more information about HIPAA, visit www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/index.html.

ADMINISTRATIVE WORKLOAD SURVEY RESULTS

AALA wishes to thank Julie Plaisance-Buchanan, Kenneth Seals, Phu Tranchi and William Walton for their work on this project. We also appreciate the invaluable assistance Dr. Lillian Utsumi provided the team.

In collaboration with AALA, a cohort of doctoral students from the UCLA Education Leadership Program recently conducted a research project focused on administrative workloads. This was in response to President Judith Perez's commitment to improving the working conditions of AALA members and her efforts to build upon the information AALA had already gathered from members. Working conditions have consistently been recurring issues for school-site administrators. As we are all aware, the current economic crisis has resulted in significant reductions in resources available to school districts. LAUSD has shortened the school year, decreased the number of assistant principals, raised class sizes, reduced classified support staff, yet has continued to increase achievement standards and performance expectations of its administrators and teachers. For purposes of the project, research questions were formulated to study the working conditions of LAUSD elementary principals. Elementary principals were targeted based upon the loss of their assistant principals as a result of the budget cuts and the impact these cuts have had on their administrative workloads.

The team constructed a survey related to the principal's ability to do his/her job over the last three years. Thirteen essential job functions are listed on the elementary principal job description and these were used to shape the survey. The survey was sent to 443 elementary principals via e-mail with a link to Survey Monkey. Two hundred forty-four principals answered the first two questions and 93 (21%) completed the entire questionnaire which consisted of four more questions that had multiple parts. Not surprisingly, key findings were that principals are working longer hours and are faced with increasing demands with less support. All of this negatively affects their well-being. More key findings follow:

- 66% reported working more than 51 hours per week; 88% reported they are working more hours than three years ago.
- 15% found the workload to be fair.
- Principals believe their accomplishment of the essential job functions is inhibited by other duties, such as district demands/reports; the employee file project; supervision of students before and after school and during lunch; unnecessary and redundant meetings; buildings and grounds work; clerical tasks, etc.
- Most respondents had a generally frustrated and demoralized tone and believed the amount of work required of them negatively affected their physical and mental health and relationship with family.
- There are fewer personnel, but additional responsibilities; office staff has been changed and/or reduced and replaced with less effective staff.

The Action Research Team summarized, "Conditions have deteriorated significantly over the past three years and LAUSD must realize the costs to its employees," and made some recommendations for possible AALA action, such as balanced workloads, reduction or elimination of nonessential tasks and the thoughtful reassignment of personnel.

The concluding paragraph of the report states the following:

Perhaps, the key question raised by this study is: How do work and workloads shift in light of personnel reductions? Principals report that despite losing personnel in the face of budget cuts, workloads increase causing tremendous stress with negative consequences for their physical and mental health and straining family relationships. Principals seem willing to take on the accumulating tasks set before them, but at what cost? The District must acknowledge the long-term effects as budget cuts continue to take their toll. The potential two-pronged effect increasing attrition while disincentivizing promising new teacher leaders from making the transition to administration will have greater costs down the line. Especially in light of the upcoming reforms for sub-office reductions, the District must be cognizant of further increases in responsibilities that will result in greater strain on the system. AALA has a significant task in attempting to temper the demands of the District with the needs of its members, but with the great confidence of its membership, AALA leadership seems poised to strike that balance and improve working conditions for its principals.

STUDENT DISCIPLINE—PENDING LEGISLATION

Lawmakers in California have taken an interest in school suspension and expulsion policies after the U.S. Department of Education released a report indicating that nearly 770,000 suspensions were recorded in the state in 2009-2010. The report also found that black students across the nation were far more likely to be suspended than any other group. There are currently FIVE bills that should bear watching, according to School Innovations and Advocacy’s website, which is a popular resource for superintendents and school management staff.

- SB 1235 (Steinberg, D-Sacramento) would impose limits on the use of suspensions beginning in the school year 2013-2014. It requires any school that has suspended more than 25% of its enrollment (or 25% of any subgroup) to implement positive behavior interventions to address the site’s environment. The percentage requiring this response would decrease by one with each ensuing school year until it reaches 15%. (Passed by Senate, in Assembly)
- AB 1729 (Ammiano, D-San Francisco) calls for alternatives to suspension and expulsion and requires the documentation of their use. It also requires the use of parent conferences and referrals to counselors or school psychologists to address the misbehavior. (Passed by Assembly, in Senate)
- AB 1732 (Campos, D-San Jose) adds the Facebook “burn page,” social media posts and false profiles to the list of offenses eligible for suspension or expulsion. (Passed by Assembly, in Senate)
- AB 2032 (Mendoza, D-Artesia) applies to charter schools and would require them to specify the acts which cause suspension of enrolled students. Charter schools would also have to specify their procedures on the use of suspensions and expulsions. (Still in Assembly committee)
- AB 2242 (Dickinson, D-Sacramento) addresses what the author considers the “over use” of suspensions for minor offenses. The bill would limit incidents of “willful defiance” to in-school suspensions with appropriate instruction. (Passed by Assembly, in Senate)
