SPIRALING

We all know the importance of the spiral approach in which the basic facts of a subject are learned first without worrying about the details. Then as learning progresses, more and more details are introduced, while at the same time the basics are reemphasized many times to help enter them into long-term memory. Therefore, we are spiraling back to reiterate some salient points from previous topics.

Dr. Tyrone Howard recently gave a presentation to the Elementary Principals Organization triggering the importance of spiraling. His messaging is always inspirational and a call to action for administrators. Perhaps what resonated most in his presentation were his reminders to them to prioritize themselves, for a change, with simple actions like taking the 30-minute duty-free lunch, chewing their food instead of gulping it down, and making conscious efforts to reduce stress. Take a moment to review Dr. Howard's work published in Update Week of May 15, 2017 (click HERE).

For certificated members who still have questions or desire more information about the 457(b) plan, there are two Voya representatives dedicated to LAUSD employees. Instead of using Voya's general customer service line, we suggest that you contact them directly:

Dan Garcia - 714.331.5858, dan.garcia@voya.com

Greg Gower - 714.889.9208, greg.gower@voya.com

We all know it is the season to be on target with evaluations and even though the strike threw a monkey wrench into the process, there are contractual deadlines to which we must adhere. It is also the most auspicious of times for us to spiral back and remind the District's senior leaders to read the New York Times article entitled "A New Principal Pushes for Change. Then the Investigations Start" (click HERE). Administrators need to know and be reassured that the entire system and leadership have their backs, especially when a problematic employee is being evaluated and/or disciplined. The District needs to return to the times when anonymous allegations were simply that, hearsay, and filed in the proverbial "round file." Instead, the District now handles anonymous allegations like the Spanish Inquisition and with little to no sensitivity. The District needs to know how detrimental and insulting it is to be subject to an investigation about baseless claims. To add insult to injury, when the allegations are unsubstantiated, administrators are still slammed with a thick binder of bulletins, policies, memoranda, and guidelines. By the way, the District has yet to take heed of our request to save trees by utilizing a disk to issue these reams of paper.

SPIRALING (Cont.)

The last reminder worth spiraling is the Update article on the implications of the use of social media (click HERE). An important omission in the article was texting. Please be aware of what is written in a text and always make sure the message is for the intended receiver before pressing send. Employees in fight or flight mode when being disciplined WILL surrender texts they consider inappropriate to the District. Many of us tend to toggle between personal and professional texts using one phone. A text full of expletives intended to be sent solely to a bestie to release some steam could end up in the wrong hands. If so, it can be used against you to erode your credibility.

The work continues to be hard and seemingly becoming harder. Practice self-care; share the New York Times article with your supervisors and demand they have your back; and be very wary about texting and social media.

HEALTH BENEFITS FAQs— FEBRUARY IS AMERICAN HEART MONTH

The leading causes of death in the United States are heart disease and stroke, according to the Centers for Disease Control (CDC). Often thought of as a man's disease, statistics for women now show that one in four women die from heart disease and stroke each year. Yet, only 54% of women recognize heart disease as their number one killer!

What has been done to increase women's awareness of heart disease?

In 2003, the American Heart Association (AHA) initiated Go Red for Women to encourage exercise, eating healthy, annual preventive care checkups, and influencing others about heart health. This initiative resulted in National Wear Red Day®, a day when women wear red to raise awareness and support for heart health and heart research. This year's day to wear red was Friday, February 1, 2019.

What are the major risk factors for heart disease?

High blood pressure, high LDL cholesterol, and smoking are the leading risk factors. Half of all American adults have at least one of these factors. Other risk indicators are diabetes, poor diet, being overweight or obese, excessive use of alcohol, and lack of adequate exercise. According to the AHA, 90% of women have at least one risk factor for heart disease.

Why is it important to control our blood pressure?

High blood pressure is a silent killer. It can lead to dangerous diseases, such as strokes, heart attacks, heart failure, and kidney failure. You don't know when you have it, since there are no symptoms. You can control your blood pressure by:

- Knowing your blood pressure numbers
- If you already have high blood pressure, setting a goal with your doctor to lower your pressure
- Taking your blood pressure medication, as prescribed
- Changing your risky behaviors by stopping smoking, managing cholesterol levels, losing weight, avoiding high sodium foods, eating more healthy foods (fruits/vegetables), exercising at least 30 minutes a day, and asking your doctor about taking aspirin

My blood pressure varies—it's mostly normal, but sometimes I get a high reading. What does this mean?

According to the National Health Institute, blood pressure doesn't stay the same all the time. It lowers when you sleep and goes up when you wake up. Additionally, when you are nervous, excited, or have a spurt of activity, your blood pressure also rises. However, if your numbers are usually above normal, you are at risk for health problems, with the risk increasing as blood pressure numbers rise. Prehypertension may lead to high blood pressure, unless you take steps to prevent it.

Are there studies that show heart disease can be reversed?

We know that a healthy lifestyle of eating well, exercising, and not smoking can prevent heart disease. Studies show conclusively that heart disease can be reversed by consuming a plant-based diet that is low in salt, fat, cholesterol, and sugar. For most people, this type of diet may not be sustainable, given that over 90% of people in the U.S. are omnivores. Prevention is the most effective way to keep our hearts healthy.

What are some ways to eat healthier?

Delicious heart-healthy recipes can be found on the internet. Try these to jump start diet changes:

- American Heart Association's Go Red recipes
- Mayo Clinic recipes, from appetizers and drinks to breads and desserts
- Recipes from EatingWell for a Healthy Heart Cookbook

REDUCED ADMINISTRATOR CERTIFICATION REQUIREMENTS

AALA would like to thank Superintendent Buetner for reducing the number of certification sections that administrators need to complete this semester. All that is required for completion are the Employee Safety Seal Program and the OSHA Form 300 Posting sections. Given the demands on the time of administrators, this reduction in certification is appreciated. The form in the Principal's Portal is currently being revised and the other sections will read N/A. The due date for the Spring Administrator Certification remains March 15, 2019.

FRANKLIN HIGH SCHOOL WINS LAUSD ACADEMIC DECATHLON

Congratulations to Franklin High School's Academic Decathlon Team for capturing the 2019 LAUSD Academic Decathlon title. The team, coached by Patrick Dowd and Yenny Yi, scored 55,204 points out of a possible 65,880, which included scores from ten events plus the Super Quiz Relay. Local District East Superintendent Jose Huerta presented the championship trophy to the team. Grant High School, coached by Karen Evens, finished second with a combined score of 54,560. Garfield High School, guided by Lucy Romero and Kevin Murchie, was third in the competition with a combined score of 49,850.

DECATHLON (Cont.)

In the Super Quiz Relay, Garfield placed first; Grant placed second; and there was a three-way tie for third between Franklin, Marshall (Michael C. Jones, Coach), and North Hollywood (Raul Barragan, Coach). Tina Wu, Franklin High School, was the top-scoring student in the competition with a score of 9,104, out of 10,000.

The California Academic Decathlon competition, to be held in Sacramento on March 21 – 24, 2019, will be the next challenge for Franklin as well as eight other LAUSD schools. Also invited to compete at the state finals by virtue of their high scores in the LAUSD competition are Grant; Garfield; Bell (Heather Wilson and Matthew Moreno, Coaches); North Hollywood; Van Nuys (Jono Mitchell, Coach); Marshall; Valley Academy of Arts and Sciences (Maria Guerra, Coach); and Westchester Enriched Sciences Magnets (Patricia Prokopidis, Coach).

The three most improved teams, one for each of the Decathlon divisions, were Los Angeles Center for Enriched Studies (Irving Contreras, Coach); Northridge Academy (Michael Gross, Coach); and Kennedy High School (Kerry Segó, Coach). Valley Academy of Arts and Sciences received the Al Perez Scholarship that is awarded annually by the United States Academic Decathlon (USAD) in honor of the LAUSD graduate and educator who has a special education center named after him and who served on the USAD Board for thirty years.

Additional awards presented were Coach of the Year, awarded to Scott Mercer, Reseda High School; the Larry McCormick Memorial Award, sponsored by AALA, presented to students Ben Bryant, Marshall High School, and Tina Wu, Franklin High School, for receiving the highest scores on the literature exam; and thirty-six “Lamp of Knowledge” medals and four $500 scholarships, sponsored by the Department of Water and Power, given to student participants in the HIPP program, a Saturday academic program that helps prepare students for the Decathlon.

Congratulations are also extended to all of the schools’ administrative staffs for the outstanding performances of their teams. The Academic Decathlon is presented by Beyond the Bell, Alvaro Cortés, Senior Executive Director, and coordinated by Kathy Gonnella and Luis Mora, Beyond the Bell administrators.

RETIREES – GUIDELINES FOR WORKING AFTER RETIREMENT

CALPERS MEMBERS

Retired CalPERS members can work:

- At an agency or school covered by CalPERS as a retired annuitant. You cannot work during the first 180 days after your retirement date and once you start, you can only work a maximum of 960 hours within a fiscal year (July 1 to June 30). You can be paid the hourly pay rate for employees doing comparable work, as listed on the employer's publicly available pay schedule; however, you cannot receive any other compensation or benefits, such as health care or sick leave.
- For an employer in another pension system, such as a university, school, or public agency not in CalPERS or in the private sector for a company that is not associated with CalPERS without any restrictions to hours, pay, or type of work.
- CalPERS-covered employers must report all retired annuitant appointments, earnings, and hours to CalPERS. Employers who fail to meet these requirements will be assessed a fee.

Please call CalPERS at 888.225.7377 for more information.

RETIREES (Cont.)

CALSTRS MEMBERS

Retired CalSTRS members can work:

- In a California public school system, either as a direct hire or as an employee of a third party, only after the first 180 calendar days of retirement. There is a limit to the amount of money that can be earned—for 2018-2019, the postretirement earnings limit is $46,451 from any California public school system. This amount may increase slightly for next school year; however, exceeding it will reduce your monthly benefit dollar for dollar of the excess.
- In private industry, private schools, public schools outside of California, and the University of California or California State University system and can continue to receive your full CalSTRS retirement benefit, with no earnings limitations.

Please call CalSTRS at 800.228.5453 for further information.
